DISTRICT OF NEVADA

Aerodynamics Incorporated and ADI
Holdings Company, Inc.,

Plaintiffs

v.

Caesars Entertainment Operating Company,
et al.,

Defendants

Case No.: 2:15-cv-01344-JAD-BNW

Order Scheduling Trial and Briefing on Motions in Limine

Plaintiffs Aerodynamics Incorporated and ADI Holdings Company, Inc. recently filed a fourth response to my order denying their request to voluntarily dismiss bankrupt defendant Via Airlines, Inc. under Federal Civil Procedure Rule 41.¹ Although plaintiffs renewed their request to voluntarily dismiss Via Airlines in their third response,² they have since sought and obtained clarification from the bankruptcy court in Via Airlines' bankruptcy that the discharge injunction under 11 U.S.C. § 524, 1141 prohibits that action.³ So plaintiffs ask me to set this matter for trial, with Via Airlines participating, if at all, only as a nominal defendant as permitted under the bankruptcy court's order.⁴ No defendant has filed a reply to plaintiffs' fourth response, and the parties' revised proposed joint pretrial order and stipulation and proposed scheduling order for briefing motions in limine are ripe for determination.⁵

² ECF No. 348 at 2–3.

³ ECF No. 351-1 (bankruptcy court's order).

⁴ ECF No. 351.

⁵ See ECF No. 316.

1 The parties stipulate that motions in limine will be due 75 days before trial, responses 45
2 days, and any reply allowed by the court 30 days before trial. This schedule is acceptable. This
3 action is scheduled for a jury trial on the September 28, 2021, trial stack. The parties are
4 directed to meet and confer and determine if they need to file a second revised pretrial order to
5 address the fact that Via Airlines will participate, if at all, only in a nominal capacity. Any 6 second revised joint pretrial order must be filed by June 17, 2021. Otherwise, the court will 7 update the parties' current revised joint pretrial order at ECF No. 311 with the dates set and 8 approved in this order and enter it on the docket.
